

Dear Faculty, Staff, and Students:

The Office of Student Activities has developed a new way to recognize Student Leaders for their outstanding contributions to the Stony Brook University's campus. We are launching the Student Leader of the Month Award.

The Student Leader of the Month Award is designed to recognize student leaders who have made Stony Brook University a better place. Each month we will recognize a student leader who has made significant contributions to the Stony Brook community at large. The real tribute of this award is the nomination. The student leader that is chosen each month will receive a certificate of appreciation.

The following criteria will be used in the decision making process:

- Providing valuable and/or unique contributions made by the individual for a special event
- Providing motivation or encouraging leadership development in a special way
- Demonstrating leadership behaviors (examples are high levels of motivation, respect for others, acceptance of responsibilities and encouraging leadership development among other members or members within their organization)
- Providing significant research in a specialized area
- Good academic standing (GPA of 2.50 or higher)

*Please note that a student can only win the Student Leader of the Month Award once in an academic year.

The deadline for nominations for each month, beginning with the month of September, will be the 15th of the following month. We will be choosing a student leader for the month of September. Nominees will be notified of our decision as soon as possible. If you have any questions, concerns, or comments, please feel free to contact Alexandra Duggan, Director of Student Activities, at 632-7320 or by e-mail at alduggan@notes.cc.sunysb.edu. Please send all of your nominations by email only!
